

Journalism and Media Production PROGRAM GOALS

- Demonstrate ability to gather, evaluate, convey, and distribute information for specific audiences and outcomes
- Develop and produce multiple forms of media, including print, audio, and video
- Apply research skills in gathering and critically evaluating media texts from multiple perspectives
- Demonstrate versatility in multiple approaches to narrative expression, both fiction and nonfiction
- Implement creative problem-solving skills within an ethical framework
- Apply theory to practice in a project-based or team environment
- Recognize and respect the role of diverse perspectives, identities, backgrounds, approaches, and abilities in the production and reception of media texts, including one's own positionality